

CARTOONS: Dutton's armada

By Mark David

24 June 2022

Lonely watcher on the cliff,
Shoulders hunched and neck all stiff,
Full of grief and sad reflection,
Smarting from a lost election.

Scans the ocean night and day,
Keeps the surly moods at bay,
Needing something for a vote,
Hoping that he sees a boat.

The Church of Hate and Church of Fear
 Had a fight that went all year.
 They fought and fought and fought and fought,
 And took their fight to the local court.
 The court was quite the innovator,
 And sent them to a mediator.
 The mediator made the claim
 That fear and hate are just the same.
 And so the mediator found
 The churches had some common ground.
 The Church of Fear and Church of Hate
 Now gladly share their real estate.
 And though their parish is considerable
 You're free to join and end up miserable.

Mark David Cartoons

Mark David is IA's resident cartoonist. You can see more cartoons from Mark on his website Mark David Cartoons, or follow him on Twitter @mdavidcartoons.